WadzPay is a blockchain-based payments platform that plans to support all Digital Currencies, including Cryptocurrencies, e-Currencies and Sovereign Currencies (e.g. e-Yuan). By applying advanced blockchain tech, the data-driven platform enables faster, hassle-free transactions that mutually benefit all stakeholders involved in the transaction lifecycle. WadzPay products and solutions are designed to revolutionize the payment ecosystem, with the mission to help merchants eliminate traditional intermediaries and payment hubs to operate on a low-cost framework.

WadzPay believes that reliant on the core principle of decentralization, blockchain provides an opportunity to break through into different payment service layers and enhance overall service efficiency to consumers by saving on time, costs and helping to decentralize accounting and financial management. This, in turn, will elevate consumer experience to a whole new level. WadzPay is automating almost the entire transaction lifecycle using blockchain. This enables us to manage the cost of running such a powerful network and pass these benefits to our WadzPay community.

Anish Jain, Founder and CEO of WadzPay, believes that WadzPay will become THE Transaction Layer for Digital Currency based payments. “We’re happy to bring our revolutionary smart digital payment ecosystem token to investors at BitMart exchange. WadzPay aims to build direct relationships between retailers and consumers, which will result in faster and cheaper settlements, control and ownership over your data, and a seamless consumer experience,” says him.

“BitMart resonates with WadzPay’s blueprint that cryptocurrency payments have the potential of creating a more borderless and globalized economy,” says Sheldon Xia, Founder and CEO of BitMart, “We are pleased to list WadzPay (WTK), a revolutionary payment solution token that builds direct and reliable relationships between merchants, businesses and consumers. It’s also a great opportunity to provide our users with diverse investing choices.”
