

WadzPay Announces Strategic Partnership with IDR (Indonesian Stable Coin)

WadzPay is announcing a partnership with the leading Indonesian Stable coin: IDR.

The Singapore-based payments platform is a firm believer in Stable coins as a key building block towards the commercialization and adoption of digital currencies for payments.

The IDR team is excited about the partnership and the knowledge exchange between the two experienced teams. WadzPay App will be the first digital asset wallet that IDR is available on.

IDR was selected by WadzPay as the first Stable coin digital asset for its platform because of their commitment to Indonesia as the beachhead market and their intimate knowledge of South-East Asia. The token is audited and assets are guaranteed at a leading bank appointed by the Indonesian government.

The IDR digital asset was created on the Tomochain TRC-21 protocol, another WadzPay strategic partner. Compared to Stable coins on Ethereum's ERC-20 protocol, IDR asset transfers are significantly faster, cheaper and do not require a native blockchain token balance for executions.

The token is available immediately on the WadzPay App.
